CPT Code Update: 2020

Attend this session for new and important updates that will affect your reimbursement.
Find out how these changes impact your specialty

5 Reasons to Attend

1. Attend this program for a breakdown of the new, revised, and deleted CPT® codes effective January 1, 2020.

2. Learn how to use and document the new and revised CPT® codes properly.

3. Make a smooth transition into 2020 by reducing claim denials.

4. Avoid using deleted and outdated codes, which could mean the difference between a claim payment and a claim denial.

5. Find out how changes to the codes and guidelines will affect your specialty.

The AMA’s Current Procedural Terminology code set for 2020 includes 394 changes with 248 additions, 71 deletions and 75 revisions.

Instructor will explain how the 2020 updates and guidelines affect your billing. Course materials will be provided for use beyond the classroom.

Class Highlights

- Six new codes have been added to report online digital evaluation services (e-visits). These codes for patient-initiated digital communication appear in both the E/M and Medicine sections. Two new codes will report self-measured blood pressure monitoring.

- There is a significant enhancement in the codes for reporting long-term electroencephalographic (EEG) monitoring services with four deleted codes and 23 new codes to provide greater clarity when billing for these services.

- Learn to effectively navigate through the revisions to the updated code set

- Enhance your understanding of CPT codes and guidelines

- Receive coding guidance for current cutting-edge technology procedures

- This program will help you reduce denials and provide you a head start on keeping provider reimbursement on track in the new year.

Who Should Attend

This is an intermediate-level course designed for medical office coders, billers, auditors, clinicians and practice managers.

Prerequisites

Content assumes knowledge of outpatient coding and reimbursement.

What to Bring

A course manual is provided. A CPT code set manual is not required, but will help provide context for recent code changes.
